
Hardware Based Packet Classification For High Speed Internet Routers

hardware based packet filtering using fpgas - hardware based packet filtering using fpgas submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements of the degree of bachelor of science honours in computer science of rhodes university timothy whelan grahamstown, south africa 01 november 2010 performance improvement of hardware-based packet ... - performance improvement of hardware-based packet 729 the rest of this paper is organized as follows. section 2 introduces related works on packet classification and describes the ideas of lucent ... security-hardened ntp reflector and packet limiting ... - of the excess load. packet limiting and alarming are discussed in detail later in this document. summary the syncserver s600 series implements real-time, hardware-based network packet processing in tandem with accurate hardware-based ntp timestamping, general packet limiting, and alarming. the intent is to pro- ngenius 2200 series packet flow switch - netscout - flow switch supports line rate hardware-based packet filtering and session-based load balancing of packets to tools. user-independent filtering allows traffic to be distinguished according to source and/or destination mac address, ip address, sctp/tcp/udp port, as well as by specific protocols, such as http, voip (sip, rtp), and others. packet processing on the gpu - carnegie mellon school of ... - has been an exploration of various hardware architectures that might be best suited for supporting software-based packet processing. since packet processing is naturally a simd application, a gpu-based router is a promising candidate. the primary job of a router is to decide, based on a packet's destination address, through which output ... high-resolution hardware-based packet capture with higher ... - to execute [13]. therefore, hardware-based packet capture has been considered as an alternative to high-resolution clock time-stamping [14]-[16]. however, access to the packet capture (and to the time stamps) on hardware-based capture tools is performed off-line as the application layer is fully disassociated from participating in the capture. comparing ring-buffer based packet capture solutions - myricom, a us-based network hardware and software company, offers a packet capture solution called sniffer10g for their own network cards. like the other options, sniffer10g provides a ring buffer and reduces the number of times a packet is copied in memory. sniffer10g is supported on linux, freebsd, and windows. assessing soft- and hardware bottlenecks in pc-based ... - assessing soft- and hardware bottlenecks in pc-based packet forwarding systems paul emmerich, daniel raumer, florian wohlfart, and georg carle technische universität münchen, department of computer science, network architectures and services boltzmannstr. 3, 85748 garching bei münchen, germany ngenius 6002 packet flow switch - netscout - beyond scalable aggregation and speed conversion, ngenius 6002 packet flow switch supports line rate hardware-based packet filtering and session-based load balancing of packets to tools. hardware-based, user-independent filtering allows traffic to be distinguished according to source design principles for packet parsers - stanford university - design principles for packet parsers ... part of all switch hardware, very little has been written on parser design and the trade-offs between different designs. is it better to design one fast parser, or several slow parsers? what is the cost of making the parser reconfigurable in the field? get on the air with ariss packet - amsat - good deal, grab it if you prefer the hardware approach to packet operation. use your computer and software in the years since the peak of the hardware tnc based activity, software for sending and receiving an afsk packet signal has been created for the sound card in your personal computer. your computer with a soundcard ieee/acm transactions on networking, vol. 19, no. 1 ... - ieee/acm transactions on networking, vol. 19, no. 1, february 2011 237 topological transformation approaches to tcam-based packet classification chad r. meiners, alex x. liu, and eric torng abstract—several range reencoding schemes have been proposed to mitigate the effect of range expansion and the limitations swift: fast dynamic packet filter - computer science - hardware-based traffic monitoring solutions, a packet filter based one is more flexible and cost-effective for edge networks. therefore, since the seminal bsd packet filter (bpf) [15], packet filters have become critical infrastructure for numerous network applications ranging from traffic monitoring- server-based security - chelsio - with line rate performance and hardware based packet filtering, time-stamping, tracing and sniffing capabilities, chelsio's t5 adapter-based packet filtering capability meets the requirements for providing server-based security for advanced threats and ddos attacks. it
